INDUSTRIAL SITUATION IN BRITAIN TAKES ON BRIGHTER ASPECT

Boards Of Trade And Miners' Representatives To Meet In Attempt To Settle Points Of Contention

(Reuter's Service)

London, September 8.—The electricians' dispute, in which the lock-out continues, now threatens to involve the underground railways, tramways, lighting and other public services of London.

The London district committee of the Electrical Trades Union has called a meeting of shop stewards of these services to consider the national position.

Already the extremists are endeavoring to involve the entire public services of the metropolis.

London, September 8.—It was announced this afternoon that the Miners' Federation Executive had decided to accept Sir Robert Horne's invitation to meet him at the Board of Trade tomorrow.

The decision has produced a feeling of optimism in Labor circles, as it is believed that once both sides are again in touch, there is every hope that the terrible calamity of a strike may be averted.

There is no intention at present that Mr. Lloyd George should see the Miners' Federation Executive tomorrow, though he may do so later, if there be a desire to submit any point to him.

A national conference of miners has been called for tomorrow night to hear the report on the Executive's meeting with Sir Robert Horne, and it is this conference which will decide whether the miners are to remain adamant in their demands or whether they will compromise.

The Government's standpoint still is that so long as the Miners' leaders maintain the attitude that their two demands are one and indivisible, there is little hope of a peaceful issue or even of a beginning of negotiations.

BETTER OUTLOOK

Later.—The coal strike situation assumed a somewhat brighter outlook as the result of a telegram from Sir Robert Horne, President of the Board of Trade, to Mr. Robert Smillie tonight saying that, in order to avoid any misunderstandings regarding the Government and Miners' Federation points of view, he would be glad if Mr. Smillie would bring his Executive to the Board of Trade on September 9 to discuss the present situation. Mr. Smillie has not yet replied.

London, September 8.—It is pointed out that tomorrow's conference between the Miners' Federation executive and the president of the board of trade does not entail a pledge on either side.

Meanwhile the government's attitude is apparently clear. It is willing to have the miners' wages demand settled by an impartial tribunal, but it refuses the demand for a reduction of 14s. 2d. per ton in the price of coal, because the latter is a political, not an industrial, question.

It now seems, in view of Sir Robert Horne's invitation to a conference, that, in spite of Mr. Smillie's objection to the industrial court, there will not be any great difficult in agreeing on the personnel of a wages tribunal which has the confidence of both parties.

THOMAS IN STATEMENT

London, September 8.—On the Trade Union Congress resuming today, the Chairman, Mr. J. H. Thomas, M.P., made a statement on the miners' trouble.

He denied that the Congress was afraid to raise the issue for fear of the miners' power. The Miners' Federation had raised no objection to the parliamentary committee bringing up the question at the Congress for the benefit of the public as a whole.

"It has been assumed in some quarters," continued Mr. Thomas, "that the miners were especially anxious for a stoppage, but my answer on behalf of every member and union official is that a stoppage of the mines is the last thing we desire. No one realises the consequences of a stoppage more than the miners themselves. No one realises the public issues involved more than the miners."

London, September 8.—The Trade Union Congress today unanimously voted a resolution declaring "the claims of the miners are reasonable and just and should be conceded immediately."

London, September 8.—It is reported that Labor demonstrations of a Bolshevist nature have been planned in nearly all European countries for September 25, if the British miners actually strike then. The demonstrations will include one day general

FOREIGNERS ARE BARRED FROM JAPANESE BIDS

Only Nippon Contractors Are Allowed To Compete For Tunnel Contract

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, September 8.—The Tokio city council has approved estimates amounting to 144,000,000 yen for an improvement of the street car system of the capital. The assembly's approval is now awaited.

The boring of the Shimonoseki Straits tunnel is expected to begin in November. The work will be carried out by Japanese contractors, foreign tenders having been refused. This will be the first tunnel of the kind in Japan.

The new wireless station at Haranomachi will soon be in operation. It will have a despatching capacity of 500 messages a day. The antenna is 660 feet high.

Elaborate celebrations have been planned in connection with the dedication of a Grand Shrine to the Emperor Meini in the beginning of November.

JAPANESE WILL SEND 130 PUPILS TO STUDY GERMAN

(Reuter's Service)

Tokio, September 8.—It is reported that the education department is sending 130 students to Germany. The students will afterwards study in other countries.

Seamen Will Be Aided By New Bill Before Parliament

(Reuter's Service)

London, September 7.—The text is issued of the Labor Party's Merchant Shipping Bill which was recently introduced in the House of Commons.

The Bill, the object of which is to amend the Merchant Shipping Acts, provides, for a great improvement in the accommodation of seamen in new ships.

Another provision is that, except in grave emergencies, no seamen or apprentice on British ships shall be employed for more than eight hours a day or forty-eight hours a week.

The maximum punishment for sending or taking a ship to sea in an unseaworthy state is increased, under the bill, to penal servitude for 10 years.

Japan Decides To Fight For Claims Against Americans

(Reuter's Service)

Tokio, September 8.—The Cabinet today discussed the Californian situation. Viscount Uchida, minister for foreign affairs, submitted a report on the latest developments in connection with the American government's attitude.

It is reported that the government will adhere to the policy of upholding "the rights acquired by the Japanese in California."

FAR EAST UNION PLANNED; CHITA ATTACK FEARED

Revolutionary Forces Prepare For Advance As Peace Parley Proceeds

SEMENOFF IS REJECTED

Ataman Unacceptable As Commander In Chief Of Trans-Baikal

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, September 8.—According to semi-official advices from Verdhne-Udinsk, the revolutionary forces are reported to be ready to advance and are only waiting for an excuse to attack Chita.

PEACE DELEGATES REPORT

Vladivostok, September 8.—The assembly today discussed the report of the "peace delegates" on their mission to Verkhne-Udinsk and Chita, regarding the formation of a single, united, East Siberian republic.

The non-socialist members proposed a resolution rejecting the provisional agreement with the Verkhne-Udinsk government, on the ground that the latter is not democratic, and upholding the provisional agreement concluded with Ataman Semenoff.

The socialist "bloc" submitted an exactly contrary motion.

The assembly finally adopted a resolution:

(1) Cancelling the first agreement concluded with Verdhne-Udinsk representatives at Gongota station but

(2) Endorsing the second agreement concluded with Verkhne-Udinsk, which should serve as a basis for further negotiations and

(3) Declaring the agreement with Ataman Semenoff to be generally unacceptable, in view of the clause providing that Semenoff should retain the post of Commander-in-Chief of the Trans-Baikal forces.

HOPE FOR EARLY UNION

Finally the assembly expressed the hope that the Vladivostok government would "take decisive steps to secure a speedy union of the Far East."

The non-socialist group subsequently passed a resolution declaring that their representatives would only remain in the coalition cabinet, on condition that they received from the communists a firm guarantee of good faith towards the coalition. The non-socialists demanded an immediate reply to their "ultimatum."

League Supports Demand Of Balfour

(Reuter's Service)

London, September 7.—The League of Nations (which points out that the sum of £10,000,000 first mentioned as the total sum required for combatting the typhus menace in Europe, should read £2,000,000) has issued a statement supporting Mr. Balfour's appeal for immediate funds.

The statement shows that the cases of typhus in Poland and Galicia which numbered 34,000 in 1916 are now estimated at 360,000.

It dwells on the necessity of combatting the spread of the epidemic to the rest of the world, recalling that 300,000 persons died of typhus in Ireland in 1846-48 and the heavy mortality at the outbreak at Rotterdam last year.

First Mail Plane On Western Flight

New York, September 8.—The daily trans-continental air mail service to San Francisco officially started today. The first aeroplane left on its flight to the West this morning. It is equipped to carry 400 pounds of mail.

Murder Of Irish Policemen Is Blow At British Empire, Declares Premier

THE critical situation in Ireland is rapidly growing worse, according to the cable reports, and practically half the country has been placed under martial law. In this photograph, which has just reached here, British troops, with fingers on the triggers of their rifles, are shown patrolling the streets of Belfast.

Court Holds Municipal By-Laws Cannot Apply Outside Of Settlement

Case Against Naval Officer For Speeding Dismissed As British Police Magistrate Upholds Important Legal Point

Holding that the municipal by-laws are not applicable to roads outside the Settlement limits, Magistrate G. W. King of the British Police Court yesterday dismissed the charges brought by the Shanghai police against Lieut. M. N. Vernon of the British gunboat Cricket for furious driving.

The municipal police prosecuted the naval officer, alleging that the defendant had on September 2 driven car No. 1588 on the North Szechuen Road Extension at a furious speed.

In dismissing the case, the Court said: "All my sympathy is with the Municipal authorities. I think if they have made roads, decent roads, outside the Settlement, roads that can be used and enjoyed by the ratepayers, it would be a pity if I have to hold that the by-laws do not apply. But it is a legal point and whatever my sympathies I must decide accordingly. The point had puzzled me in other cases. As I advise myself at present, I consider this by-law cannot be used against Lieut. Vernon and I will dismiss the case. I should like the question as to the application of these by-laws to be decided as quickly as possible."

CASE FOR PROSECUTION

Inspector Kinipple appeared for the police.

Outlining the case Inspector Kinipple said that on the day in question two reports were received at headquarters regarding furious driving by this car. Defendant was the licensee and driver. In the first case the constable had gone to hospital and he would be unable to go on with the case. In the second case the car was going from south to north, on this road while a tramway working party was engaged on repair work. The car was traveling at a fast rate of speed and did not slow down when it approached the working party. The workmen had to jump aside to avoid being run over. The car returned shortly after and again passed at an excessive rate of speed.

P. C. Barry said he saw the car approaching the working party. There was only room for one vehicle to pass. This car was traveling at a speed of about 25 to 30 miles an hour. To pass with safety it should have slowed down to under 10 miles per hour. It did not slow down, but passed at the speed he had mentioned. Two minutes later it returned at the same speed. He could not see who was driving the car. The coolies had to jump clear to avoid being knocked down. There were seven or eight foreigners in the car, one of them standing on the footboard.

Cross-examined by defendant: A car traveling at 25 to 30 miles an hour had time, in his opinion, to stop and turn round and come back.

Two of the Chinese also gave evidence.

DEFENDANT'S VERSION

Defendant, in a statement, said he naturally increased his speed

Lithuanians Accused Of Combine With Reds To Violate Neutrality

(Reuter's Service)

London, September 8.—The Polish Government's note to the allies and the League of Nations declares that the Lithuanians have violated neutrality by allowing soviet troops to use Lithuanian territory, that Lithuanian troops have occupied the Suwalki district which the supreme council had allotted to Poland, that Bolshevist troops were co-operating with the Lithuanians, and that a Bolshevist concentration was proceeding in Lithuania.

The Polish government asks the league to adopt all possible means to prevent a repetition of such actions.

On the contrary, a Lithuanian official telegram declares that the Polish statements that the Bolshevists are fighting in the Lithuanian ranks and that the Lithuanians have an understanding with the Bolshevists against the Poles are absolutely false.

Washington, September 8.—It is stated in diplomatic circles that, according to an official report received here, General Zukas, commanding the Lithuanian army, has notified the Polish military representatives at Kovno that unless Lithuania's territorial claims are accepted, Lithuania will co-operate with the Bolsheviks against Poland.

London, September 7.—The determination of Labor not to handle munitions for Poland led to a ship being held up today at Bootle owing to the dockers refusing to load fumigating machines on board the vessel for Danzig, apparently, under the impression that the machines were some deadly implement of war.

The Council of Action intervened, explained that the machines were intended to destroy vermin and prevent typhus and other diseases, and urged the dockers to release them from embargo.

Sir Edward Carson

Twenty thousand Orangemen, after an imposing procession through Belfast to Finaghy, Ireland, on July 12, were addressed by Sir Edward Carson, their leader. Sir Edward, in his speech, declared he "would rather go to jail and die there than submit for one moment to the tyranny of Sinn Fein," according to reports received here. This photograph shows Sir Edward delivering his fiery address.

Investigation Of Affair Is Ordered By Premier Of Italian Government

(Reuter's Service)

Trieste, September 6.—Officers from Fiume recently proceeded to Catania and succeeded in getting the steamer, Cogni, which was loaded with a valuable general cargo for America, diverted to Fiume.

Signor Giolitti, the Premier, has ordered a rigorous inquiry into the affair.

Swedish Workmen In Plan To Colonise Russian District

(Reuter's Service)

Stockholm, September 7.—The Social-Demokraten states that a Swedish metal-workers' delegation has returned from a tour of investigation in Russia and reports that it received a very cordial welcome everywhere. The delegation expresses the opinion that the Ural district is the most suitable for colonisation.

LLOYD GEORGE ASSERTS ERIN REVOLUTIONARIES USE UNFAIR METHODS

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 8.—While some quarters publish denials concerning Mr. Lloyd George's conditional offer to release Mr. McSweeney, some leading journals this morning repeat and amplify the declaration.

They state that the Prime Minister, speaking to British journalists in his special train, pointed out that the Lord Mayor of Cork was undoubtedly concerned in a conspiracy against the Government which resulted in the murder of 85 brave and devoted men and the shooting of 178 others.

Mr. Lloyd George differentiated between Sinn Fein, which was not a criminal organisation, and the so-called Irish Republican army which was striving to dismember the Empire.

The government, proceeded the prime minister, had either got to protect its forces in Ireland or withdraw them.

The police force in Ireland was being recruited from the finest type of ex-service men who were enlisting in very substantial numbers, and the government must support them fully. A policy of leniency had already been tried three times.

Large numbers of prisoners had been released unconditionally after the Easter rebellion and twice since the same thing had been done, but the very men who had been released had immediately engaged in fresh conspiracies and recommenced the murdering of police in Ireland.

Mr. Lloyd George most strongly emphasised that the republican army was engaged in a mean and murderous warfare upon the British forces and was seeking by carefully planned anarchy and murder to bring about the secession of Ireland from the Empire.

People all over the world, declared the prime minister, must realise that the British government were face to face with the same problem as Lincolin before the American civil war, although the Southerners fought openly and cleanly for secession, while the Irish sought it by murder.

If the Republican army conspiracy, in which Mr. McSweeney was involved, had existed during the war, it would probably have been impossible to overcome the submarine menace, with the result that the Empire would have been destroyed.

London, September 8.—The British government's decision to withhold grants owing to the Dublin corporation's allegiance to the Republican parliament has resulted in the corporation recommending, in order to meet the grave financial position created, that the salaries of its employes be reduced by 25 percent for nine months and that the sanatorium, dispensary and home be closed.

CASUALTY LIST

London, September 7.—The War Office has issued a list of casualties among the military in Ireland in August, showing that one officer and two men were killed and two officers and 12 men were wounded whilst eight men were injured.

London, September 7.—Belfast is settling down after the recent serious disturbances and work is being resumed.

It was stated at the inquest on the deaths of some of the rioters today that 31 lives altogether were lost. A million pounds worth of claims for compensation have already been lodged.

PAINLEVE SPEAKS BEFORE LEADING EDUCATORS HERE

Former Premier To Be Guest Of Chamber Of Commerce At 6:30 O'clock

Attributing France's progress entirely to the development of education, M. Paul Painleve, former French Premier and noted philosopher yesterday addressed the faculties of local schools at the Kiangsu Educational Association, West Gate. Dr. Huang Yen-pei, president of the association, presided.

In introducing M. Painleve, Dr. Huang pointed out that the principal speaker was the first statesman in France to recognise the young Chinese Republic and is a political leader of the world's oldest republic and a recognised authority on education. The main address was interpreted into Chinese by Mr. Ho Lu, instructor of the first Provincial Normal School of Kiangsu. A reception followed the address.

POWER OF EDUCATION

The speaker asserted that 20 years ago France was in the same position as that of China today. Her strong position in the family of nations today is due to the educational efforts made by her people. China is hopeful, because her people are beginning to awaken to the educational needs of the country. People are laboring for the general promotion of education and they should be encouraged to do more.

M. Painleve said that he was told by his friends in France that China, though a civilised country, is not a complete nation. This he disagreed with. It is true that China is not yet united, but her people are anxious to seek for happiness and are quite aware that their salvation lies with the unification of their country.

CHINA HOPEFUL

With this idea and with this hope, M. Painleve said, she ought to become a strong nation inside 20 years.

Besides the general spreading of education, the former premier said, the development of science is also essential to the welfare of a nation. Three hundred years ago, Europe too, ignored the importance of science. People there emphasised discourse and thesis just as China did at the literary examinations.

A great stride was made towards civilisation when people realised the importance of science. Had the old school remained, undefeated, Europe would have been in the same plight as China today. It is a recognised fact that the intellectual capacity of the Chinese is just as high as that of his western brother. If the Chinese

POLICE SEEKING ERNEST C. TREVOR IN JADE ROBBERY

Ernest Charles Trevor is being sought by the Shanghai police as the man who shot down Woo Sing-faung, Chinese curio dealer, and fled with jade jewels valued at Tls. 5,000 on Great Western Road on the afternoon of August 30. Trevor's whereabouts are unknown, as he has not been seen in Shanghai since the day when the crime was committed.

The manner in which suspicion was centered on Trevor, who is known to many waterfront men, has not been disclosed by the police, but a description of the man has been sent out broadcast and a warrant charging attempt to murder and robbery has been issued from the Mixed Court. Trevor also, it is alleged, has been known to go under the name of Ernest Norman.

The suspect is said to have been born at Galveston, Texas and to be a naturalised British subject. He is a mechanic and has been employed in Oriental waters as a ship's fireman. Recently he is said to have been a teacher in a Chinese night school. The description issued by the police sets forth that the man is about 30 years old, 150 pounds in weight and 5 feet 6 inches tall.

The robbery for which Trevor is sought is one of the most remarkable in Shanghai's criminal annals. The victim was induced to take a package containing the jade jewelry from his shop on Bubbling Well Road by a pretended customer who shot down the Chinese curio dealer in the street in the middle of the afternoon and then fled with the jewels.

Woo Sing-faung, who hovered between life and death for a week, is now recovering, having lost the sight of an eye after the bullet that was fired had passed entirely through his head.

SHELL SAMAWAH BY CANNON LOST ON RAIDED TRAIN

Retreating Garrison Is Attacked By Insurgents Who Cause Heavy Death Roll

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 6.—Another regrettable episode, involving the overwhelming of the British crew of an armored train after a gallant fight, is narrated in tonight's War Office Mesopotamia communique.

It appears that the garrison of the camp at Samawah railway station was being withdrawn to the town and the armored train was covering the operation.

TRAIN BREAKS DOWN

The train broke down and was rushed by some 4,000 insurgents.

It is reported that the crew put up a resolute defense and inflicted 500 casualties but were finally overpowered. Forty men including two British officers are reported missing. The insurgents captured the train, 1 13-pounder, 1 Lewis gun, 3 Hotchkiss machine-guns and forty boxes of ammunition.

Reports from other parts of Mesopotamia show that the Assistant Political Officer at Hit on the Upper Euphrates has withdrawn by armored car to Ramadi, while north of Bagdad a train, attempting to reach Reled from Samarra, was fired on and compelled to turn back. The 85th Brigade reached Museyib on the Middle Euphrates and found the bridge across the river partly destroyed.

CITY IS SHELLED

London, September 7.—Tonight's War Office Mesopotamia communique reports that Samawah was shelled by the thirteen pounder lost with the armored tram which was captured on September 2.

On the Upper Euphrates the building of block-houses has begun on the Bagdad-Fallujah line.

The India Office announces that the Civil Commissioner at Bagdad telegraphed today that a letter had been received from Captain Lloyd at Deli Abbas stating that Captain Strachan and Mrs. Buchanan are safe with him and that he has no fears for their personal safety.

Communist Seeks Alliance With Eastern States

Will Resume Exportation Of Beans From Vladivostok

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Vladivostok, September 9.—The former Prime Minister, M. Nikiforoff, who is a member of the Communist Party, has left for Chita and Verhne-Udinsk on behalf of the Government to carry on negotiations with a view to the joining up of the Far Eastern States. He will afterwards proceed to Moscow.

The threatened strikes at the Ussuri Shipbuilding Works have been called off. The Government has promised to give out food to the employes and to pay their salaries.

Efforts are being made to reopen the exportation of beans from Vladivostok. If they are successful, several firms announce that they will export from Vladivostok instead of from Dairen.

A Japanese naval squadron, numbering thirty ships, which is carrying out maneuvers, has arrived in Vladimir Bay.

Question Raised By Council Secretary

In connection with charges made by Tuchun Lu Yung-hsiang of Chekiang concerning alleged attempts to traffic in arms, said to have been stored aboard an Italian submarine chaser here, Capt. Raeffaele Ferrajolo of the Italian Consulate in an interview that was published in THE CHINA PRESS on September 2 issued a general denial and in this the inference was given that the matter had been taken up by the Italian Consulate here with the Municipal Council and had been adjusted.

Mr. N. O. Liddell, Secretary of the Municipal Council, says this is erroneous and in order to avoid any misapprehension on the subject he has issued the statement that the question of alleged arms sales has not been taken up with the Municipal Council by the Italian Consulate and no understanding has been reached.

Japanese Officials In America For International Convention

The first representatives of the five nations who will take part in the International Communication Conference in Washington to arrive in this country were from Japan. The Japanese representatives, from left to right: S. Kageyama, T. Ushizawa, Secretary of Communications, and K. Sugino. They were photographed upon arrival in Washington. The purpose of the conference, which will probably open on September 15, is to consider all forms of international communication by the agency of electricity. It will be the first conference of this kind to be held in this country, although several have been held in Europe in past years.

SPANISH ENVOY IS NOW DOYEN OF DIPLOMATS

Takes Over Office From French Minister Upon Recovery

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, September 9.—Senor Luis Pastor, the Spanish Minister at Peking, today takes over the doyenship, which has been held by M. Auguste Boppe, the French Minister, owing to the illness of Senor Pastor since the departure of Sir John Jordan.

According to Japanese reports General Chang Tso-lin will represent China at the wedding of the Japanese Crown Prince in April.

Peking students have arranged a meeting tomorrow to discuss the proposed People's Conference.

The Government is giving serious attention to the famine and proposes to draw upon the Conservancy Administration for $2,000,000 and also to raise other funds to meet urgent needs. Mr. Crane, the American Minister, is initiating a movement for the appointment of an International Commission to give the Chinese expert and practical assistance.

The latest reports show that the situation is daily growing worse and the outlook for the winter is appalling. Only prompt and generous assistance from every part of the world will avert one of the most serious calamities in the history of modern China.

MOTOR BANDITS BELIEVED TO BE PEKING OUTLAWS

Officer Who Was With Victim Of Tientsin Murder Gives His Version

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tientsin, September 8.—Mr. Kawabata, the Japanese who was murdered by Chinese bandits here yesterday, was an architect. He had arrived with the officer, his companion at the time of the murder, from Peking. The latter believes that he recognised the robbers as having followed them from Peking.

The police are of opinion that the robbers belong to the same gang that committed a motor robbery and murder two months ago.

U.S. NAVY IS BARRED FROM USE OF ALCOHOL

New "Grape Juice" Order For Gobs Is To Affect Medical Department

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, September 8.—The use of all spirituous liquors for surgical or medical purpcses in the United States Navy has now been definitely and completely banned. An order just issued prohibits the issuance of alcohol for medical purposes to any naval vessel, and no further purchases are to be made by the Medical Department of the Navy.

The treasury department in order to put an end to illicit distilling of intexicating liquors, has decided to tighten the regulations governing the sale of stills.

The department will then be the better able to keep track of still owners.

Under the new regulations all sales must be reported to the department, the name of the purchaser and the place where the still is to be set up must be notified and a sworn statement of the purpose for which the still is purchased must be presented.

Adelaide, September 7.—The Anglican Synod of South Australia has rejected a resolution favoring prohibition. One member declared that prohibition was "an anti-Christian idea of American cranks."

Famine Victims Flocking Into Tientsin By Hundreds In Deplorable Condition

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tientsin, September 8.—Hundreds of refugees from the famine area are arriving in Tientsin daily. Most of them go on elsewhere, but there is a noticeable increase in the number of beggers in the streets, who frequently accost passers-by offering to sell children for $2 or $3.

The North China Star states that Tsao Jui, the civil governor, has given $2,000,000 for relief. $1,000,000 of which is to go direct to starving persons, while the other million will be used to buy grain, which will be sold to those who are not entirely destitute at at a reduced price.

Chinese gentry held a meeting on Monday when it was decided to make investigations before collecting and distributing funds.

Smiles from the Mixed Court

He was charged with speeding.

His innocent manner and expressionless face caused a doubt in the mind of the magistrates in the Mixed Court.

"How fast was this man driving," demanded the Assessor.

The Chinese Police Constable was nonplused for the moment. Then a smile overspread his features. He testified:

"Just a little faster than a tram car and not so fast as a fire engine."

ITALY TEMBLORS WRECK ITALIAN CITIES, IS WIRE

Many Deaths Reported As Result Of Earthquakes Shaking Country

(Reuter's Service)

London, September 7.—Various parts of Italy, particularly Tuscany and Lombardy, were visited with earthquake shocks between yesterday evening and this morning causing great damage and the loss of several lives.

Reuter's Rome correspondent telegraphs that the center of the earthquake appears to have been in the province of Massa-Carrara. Troops have been sent to assist the affected areas.

The small town of Villa Colle Mandina, with 2,000 inhabitants, in the province of Massa-Carrara has been destroyed, while serious damage and many deaths have occurred in the surrounding districts. Numbers were killed or injured in various places owing to their jumping from windows in their fright. The whole population of Forte del Marmi is camping out.

There were many victims at Cave di Forno, while Riversano, Forni and Montignoso are in ruins. Violent shocks ware felt at Nice.

The earthquakes in Italy are the sequel of a number of recent seismic disturbances in widely separated parts of Europe. Last week severe shocks scared sleepers at Ilfracombe.

Charles Denby Is Coming To Manage Shanghai Company

Former American Consul To Take Direction Of Gaston, Williams And Wigmore

Mr. Charles Denby, former American Consul General at Shanghai, son of the former America Minister to Peking and for the last few years a member of the American War Trade Board, is returning to China soon as a director and general manager of the firm of Gaston, Williams and Wigmore, Inc.

In a letter to the American Chamber of commerce announcing his new connection, Mr. Denby says: "I have made this connection after careful investigation of the firm's standing and of the steps they are taking to place themselves in the foremost rank of American firms dealing with the East."

The other officers of the company are: Chairman of the Board, Charles H. Sabin; President, George A. Gaston; Vice-President and Treasurer, W. M. St. John; Vice-President, W. H. Swift; Vice-President and General-Counsel, C. K. Fauver; Vice-President, Rurr C. Chamberlin; Secretary, R. H. Lee Martin and Henry S. Kimball former president of the Remington Arms Company, Vice-President in charge of the New York office.

Mr. Denby is director and manager of the subsidiary company, Gaston, Williams and Wigmore, Far Eastern Division, Inc., in which capacity he is coming to China.

Democratic King Popular In Bulgaria

The principal reason of the popularity of King Boris of Bulgaria is his democratic manner and willingness to aid his poorest subject. It has been said of the new King that he has often gone into the fields and has offered valuable suggestions about the crops. Here King Boris is shown chatting with a peasant farmer of his country. When the American Red Cross recently investigated the conditions of Russian refugees in Bulgaria it was disovered that King Boris had already taken all steps possible to care for the suffering within the borders of his country.

after getting out of the narrow streets of Shanghai. Although part of the road was up there was still plenty of room left for him to pass. There was no other traffic in sight. The coolies were protected by the red lamp signal and he would not have struck them had they remained where they were. The fact that they moved out of the way did not necessarily show there was any danger.

The Court: Supposing a car had come the other way?

Defendant: I could see the road.

The Court: What do you estimate your speed to have been?

Defendant: About 25 miles.

The Court: Don't you think that was rather high over any road near Shanghai, even admitting it was that time in the morning and there was not much traffic about?

Defendant: With an open road, Sir, I think it was in keeping with safety.

The Court: What do you say, Inspector?

Inspector Kinipple: He was traveling on the wrong side of the road and should have slowed down. It is a very narrow road, not more than 30 feet at its widest and is simply honeycombed with alleyways. There is not only the question of vehicular traffic to consider but also the people coming out of these alleyways. It is positively dangerous for a car to be driven at that rate of speed at any hour of the day.

BY-LAW QUESTIONED

The Magistrate then brought up the question of the by-law under which the charge was brought, and said it was not very clearly drawn up.

Inspector Kinipple held that it applied to any municipal road.

The Magistrate: Why? Since when? Lieut. Vernon has not raised the point, but there is the point of how the by-laws can be applied. I think they ought to apply, but how can they? The Land Regulations are distinctly defined as applying to within the limits of the Settlement. The Land Regulations are the parents and the by-laws the children and I should like to know how the latter can be applied outside the limits when the former are applied only within the limits.

Inspector Kinipple: The fine for any offense on a municipal road outside the Settlement is given as not to exceed $25.

The Magistrate: Defendant may say that anything outside the Settlement is ultra vires. The point has not been raised yet, I don't think. He may raise it now.

Defendant: I should like to do so.

The Magistrate: It did not occur to you before?

Defendant: It did not.

The Court then gave judgment.

The Frawley Company

The Frawley Company arrived yesterday and will appear tonight at the Lyceum Theater in that delightful comedy entitled "Three Wise Fools." The play gives Tim Frawley plenty of opportunity for his wonderful characterisation. The piece for presentation on Saturday is "Lightnin" which is another play giving Frawley lots of work.

The speaker concluded by saying that the fate of the Chinese is in the hands of the younger generation represented by his audience and his message to them consists of the appeal for an early union of the nation, the general spreading of education and the emphasis on useful science.

An appreciative audience attended to hear the talk which was interpersed with applause. Three cheers were given when the speech ended.

The Chinese Chamber of Commerce will give a tea party this afternoon, commencing at 6:30 o'clock in honor of M. Paul Painleve, former French Premier.

Premier And Foch Touring On Rhine

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, September 8.—M. Millerand and Marshal Foch are touring the Rhine territory. Yesterday they visited Bonn, where the Marshal reviewed the occupation troops.

Afterwards they went to see Beethoven's grave and M. Millerand placed a wreath on the tomb of General Hoche, one of the heroes of the French revolution.

The Premier then returned to Coblenz, where he deposed a floral tribute on Marceau's monument.

Later M. Millerand and Marshal Foch motored to Nassau, where they lunched with General Allen, commanding the American army.

This morning the Premier and Marshal Foch left Coblenz for Wiesbaden.

TRADES UNION CONGRESS

London, September 7.—The Trade Union Congress continued its meeting today but again maintained complete silence on the vital question of the hour and confined itself to discussing minor matters such as the Unemployment Act, the election of the parliamentary committee and the ban on the Russian Trade Union delegation which the government are not allowing to land in England.

This aroused the fury of Mr. Williams, secretary of the Transport Workers Federation who demanded that the council of action should "get busy" to compel the government to admit the delegation.

The congress however refused to take the affair tragically and referred it to committee for further consideration.

The congress adopted unanimously a resolution submitted by Mr. J. R. Clynes, M.P., in favor of a levy on war wealth and capital.

SEEKING PEACE

Although there is no apparent recognition by the congress that the coal crisis even exists labor leaders at Portsmouth have not been inactive and unofficially they are busily exploring the avenues of peace.

It is now considered possible that the congress may at present not make any official act of intervention but leave definite moves towards mediation to the Triple Alliance, which may not act until the last moment.

Fire Chief Pett Has Narrow Escape

Fire Chief W. W. Pett had a narrow escape from death yesterday while fighting a fire in a building at 36 Seymour Road when a section of flooring gave way under him and he fell into a basement room in which the blaze had started. He was rescued more or less uninjured, having suffered only a severe shaking and a number of bruises. The fire was confined chiefly to a billard room and was extinguished by firemen of Sinza and Central divisions. The extent of the loss has not been fixed.

STINNES STANDS BY GOVERNMENT IN COAL DISPUTE

Berlin Financiers, Not Simons, Blamed For Spa Defeat

ALL WAIT ON REICHSTAG

Smashup In Cabinet Now Appears Remote—Foreign Minister Holds Power

BY RAYMOND SWING

Berlin, July 24.—The German People's party, of which Hugo Stinnes, German industrial leader, is recognised as the guiding head, will not withdraw from the coalition Government and thus shatter the Ministry because of disagreement with the conciliatory policy of Dr. Walter Simons, Foreign Minister, at Spa, according to political prophets here.

As a matter of fact, the much heralded Stinnes-Simons fight is being quietly ignored by the leaders of the People's party, while their hostility is being directed against other members of the Cabinet than Dr. Simons.

Indications are that the line of demarcation resulting from the Spa conference will not be between the Moderates and the Nationalists, but between the industralists of the Rhine and the Jewish industrialists and bankers. In this connection it is being suggested in certain quarters in Germany that the really harmful sentiments voiced at Spa, in so far as German interests were concerned, were not made by Dr. Simons, but by Hamburg and Berlin financiers, who, it is declared, even ventured to inform the Allies privately that the German representatives would give in on the coal question.

It was stated in high circles here that there were no differences between Herr Stinnes and Dr. Simons But this remarkable change of tactics on the part of Herr Stinnes probably means that Dr. Simons has shown such surprising strength since his return here from Spa that his political overthrow was considered impossible.

The fight against the coal agreement, however, will still be carried on when the Reichstag meets next Monday, and it is likely to cost the portfolio of at least one Germar Minister who was at Spa. Fehrenbach and Simons will make statements on the Spa conference.

The Committee of Foreign Affairs of the Reichstag has held another meeting to consider the Spa decisions. Members of the committee agreed not to make any formal decision, but to leave the whole problem for the Reichstag. The German People's party also held a caucus, but postponed action until the Reichstag meets.

Thus the two fields on which the attack on Dr. Simons was to have been made have been cleared, and it is practically assured that he will have a majority in the Reichstag.

SEITZ IS SPEAKER AT ROTARY TIFFIN

Lumber Company Manager Tells Why U.S. Incorporation Law Is Needed

Mr. Carl Seitz, General Manager of the China Import & Export Lumber Company, was speaker at yesterday's weekly tiffin of the Shanghai Rotary Club when he explained in some detail the need, acutely felt in China by American commercial interests, of the proposed American federal incorporation law now before Congress.

In his address Mr. Seitz reviewed the points he set forth in his speech before the American Congressmen while they were here, as reported in THE CHINA PRESS. He told his hearers that the bill, which has been in committee, is to come before Congress in December and he urged upon all of them the importance of bringing to bear all efforts to effect its passage. To achieve this he suggested that American business men in China generally should write to their representatives in both houses of Congress and urge strongly that the measure be enacted.

The speaker told something of the draft of the measure as planned by the American Chamber of Commerce and American commercial interests, explaining that its purpose was not to exempt individuals from payment of income tax, but to place American business enterprises in China on an equal footing with British firms by relieving them of tax payments which British firms do not have to meet.

He said that the Hongkong Companies Ordinance, under which British firms generally are registered, had been taken as a model and a provision of the measure that he pointed out was the requirement that the accounts of American firms should be audited annually by recognised accountants which would have the effect of giving to Chinese and others assurance of the stability and integrity of Aemrican firms doing business in China.

Incidentally the speaker in referring to the visit of the American legislators said that the visitors had revealed a complete ignorance of commercial conditions in China.

French Politeness Outlives War

Waiter And Patrons Give Illustration Of Honor To Letters

Paris, July 24.—Even after five years of war struggles and eighteen months of past war worry the instinctive politeness of the average Frenchman still survives. This was evidenced in a small patisseric where M. Anatole France, the illustrious French author, casually drops in for his afternoon tea and whenever he visits the capital. All of the tables were occupied, but the waiter recognised the visitor and with characteristically excited gesticulations insisted that M. Anatole France wait for just one minute.

Approaching two men seated at a comfortable table, the knight of the napkin, ignoring the appeals of the author, whispered to them, "May I have your table for M. Anatole France of the Academic Francaise?"

There was no hesitancy shown by the two Parisians. They rose, bowed to the writer and departed. one however remarked to the waiter as he paid his bill:

"You are right. Here in France, from the President to the barroom waiters, the world of letters must be honored."

Won Stage Honors In Another's Name

Mme. Pierat Used Birth Certificate Of Friend In Conservatory

Paris, July 24.—The Paris Conservatory is trying to solve the problem of whether Mme. Pierat, winner of many prizes and now recognised as one of the leading comediennes, is legally entitled to her honors. It appears that Mme. Pierat discovered her talent when she was too old to obtain entrance to the Conservatory and for that reason used the birth certificate of one of her friends, Mle. Bravelet, whose name she assumed.

She won her first laurels nearly twenty years ago and since then has been receiving a yearly pension from the Comedie Francaise. This would not have been discovered had not the mother of the real Mlle. Bravelet decided that she should be paid for the use of her daughter's name. She applied to the courts for judgment.

Thespian friends of Mme. Pierat are divided in their views, one faction insisting that she must give up the prizes she has received and return the funds the Conservatory paid out to her, but others contending that the awards were granted to her because she was talented and not because her name pleased the professors.

OUIJA BOARD IS PARAMOUNT OVER OLD SUPERSTITION

Woman, Summoned By Spirit Messenger, Follows Him Into Soochow Creek

Mysticism of Ancient China has given way to the Ouija Board.

Chang Li-sz, a bride, had heard of the spiritism craze that has infected the people of Britain and America and which has agitated George Bernard Shaw, Basil King and other literary lights.

She didn't take much stock in the stories she heard until one moonlight night not long since she awoke and saw a tall, commanding figure standing in the doorway beckoning her to follow him.

"I had to obey," she told the Mixed Court, simply.

"His manner was compelling," she continued. "I arose and dressed, followed him from our home in Woochang Road down Soochow Road to the Chapoo Road Bridge. Then he walked off into the water and I had to do likewise."

Her husband said he saw his wife start up the road and walk into the river but couldn't overtake her. He and a policeman had a hard time fishing her our of the water.

"We couldn't see any man," both the policeman and the husband told the court.

"And I'm glad I didn't," murmured the husband.

The court recognised the Ouija influence to the extent of dismissing a charge of attempted suicide.

Montmartre Has Reversed Statue

Mock Mayor Installed In Bizarre Ceremonial Joke

Paris, July 24.—Paris, despite its worries and the failure to obtain satisfaction from Germany, is rapidly losing its spirit of sadness and is returning to its former light hearted gayety. An amusing evidence of this tendecy was furnished in the elections in Montmartre when a popular character was selected as a mock Mayor, followed by the inauguration of a monument to the "Chief of Montmartre's Intellectuals."

The cafes and cabarets provided a procession of 5,000 persons who marched to the Place du Terter on top of the "Holy Hill," back of the Sacre Cour, where M. Jules de Paquit, humorist, wearing felt slippers and a woollen scarf, unveiled a statue to "Elsevir Mederic Stenophrase du Terter," who was glorified as having spent ninety-six years in Montmartre as a philosopher, philanthropist and explorer. Du Terter never existed, but in the hearts of the Montmartrois Paquit proclaimed "he will live forever as well as his thirty-six volumes which owing to the hard hearted publisher and to the fact that they were never written failed to reach the French public."

The climax of the bizarre ceremony was reached when the veil dropped and an abnormal sculpture of an hypothetical savant was revealed, head downward and feet in the air, with plaster hands outstretched to receive the friendly grasp of hundreds of pedestrians who pass it daily.

BARNES SETS PACE IN MET. GOLF TOURNEY

His First Round Score Is 69, New Competitive Record For Greenwich Links

HAGEN TIED FOR SECOND

Titleholder Is Two Strokes Behind Leader; Field Of 112 Attracted

New York, July 28.—Jim Barnes, the lanky, long-haired professional of St. Louis and divers other localities, yesterday usurped what had been intended to be a gala reception to Walter Hagen, in honor of the latter's home-coming. Barnes just couldn't bear to see the start of the thirteenth annual metropolitan open golf tournament at the Greenwich Country Club without nibblicking himself squarely into the limelight. It was Hagen's first appearance here this year and moreover his first golf in the New York district since returning with the French open championship in his pocket, but the holder of both the national and metropolitan titles wound up the first day tied for second place, two strokes behind the lean, hungry-looking Barnes.

Barnes's first of the four rounds was clicked off in a 69, establishing a new competitive record for Greenwich. Last week Harry Vardon was credited with the same total, but it was in a fourball match when now and then a putt was conceded. On Tuesday Pat O'Hara did an unofficial 68 in practice, but yesterday needed 79.

By every calculation the 1920 tournament is the greatest and grandest ever held in the district. Veteran solons of the Metropolitan Golf Association declared that never before had an open championship attracted a field of 112 starters. It appeared as if all golfing paths led to New York this week. Willie Macguire came from Houston, Texas; E. K. McCarthy from Jacksonville, John Burgess from Asheville, Eugene Sarazen from Fort Wayne, Wilfrid Reid from Wilmington, J. Douglas Edgar and Willie Ogg from Atlanta.

Barnes is certainly hitting up a terrific pace in his preliminary tourneys before he starts for his greatest goal, the national open. In winning the Shawnee open last week he seemed to be at the top of his form, and yesterday showed that he has not budged an inch. On the outward trip Long Jim had a 35, strictly par golf. A birdie 2 on the difficult second hole started him on his record breaking round. Here Barnes used a mashie whereas most others found the jigger or midiron not too long, and landed his tee shot two feet from the pin. The green is generally wet, and at times hard to judge, but Barnes had no trouble whatever in sinking his putt. On the 335-yard uphill seventh he got another birdie but lost this stroke playing the plateau ninth, where he needed a four, one over par. Coming in, Jim played according to regulation except on one hole, the long thirteenth, where he shaved one off the par. His card, compared to the Greenwich par, follows:

Out—
Par	4	3	4	5	4	4	4	4	3	—35
Barnes	4	2	4	5	4	4	3	5	4	—35
In—
Par	3	4	3	5	5	3	4	4	4	—35—70
Barnes	3	4	3	4	5	3	4	4	4	—34—69

MOVIE MEN BUSY

Perhaps the persistence of photographers forced Hagen to take his 71, the same score returned by the youngster from Port Washington, Willie Macfarlane. Anyway a corps of movie men and shutter-snappers insisted on lining up the champion in order that newspaper readers for the next few days may see what effect a European trip had on Hagen.

Matters went smoothly for Hagen until the fifth hole. His tee shot was a slice to about three inches off the fairway into rough grass. His out brought him to ten feet short of the green, and he chipped to about nine feet from the cup. This nine-foot putt was missed, and he was forced to take a five, one over par. On the ninth a typical Hagen recovery, known so well to those who have trailed him in many a match, gave him a par. He gained the plateau green all right enough, but overran the cup on his first putt by about ten feet. Then he holed out from this distance to save himself the three. Another ten-footer on the 535-yard fourteenth, a dog-leg hole that is the longest on the Greenwich course, gave him one of the hardest birdies that is possible to get. His approach from 130 yards brought him to ten feet from the pin and he rolled down this putt. Hagen's card follows:

Out	4	3	4	5	5	4	4	4	3	—36
In	3	4	4	4	4	3	4	5	4	—35—71

Johnny Farrell, the brilliant young Hombred, finished in a four-cornered tie for third with 72, partly because of two excellent birdies. On the second and tenth holes he got twos. Charles Hoffner of Philadelphia negotiated the difficult feat of getting a 2 on the uphill twelfth, a hole that "stumps" most golfers. Louis Martucci, the one-armed golfer, who is always a center of attraction, needed 87 yesterday.

SWEETSER TIED FOR SIXTH

Jess Sweetser of Siwanoy, the new intercollegiate champion, played in his first open championship yesterday and led by a wide margin the group of amateurs who dared face the professional attack on the title. Sweetser had a fine round in 76, tying with nine others for sixth place.

American Tennis Champion Snapped On Wimbledon Courts

LAWN BOWLERS SELECT TEAM TO MEET HANKOW

Full Program For Visitors Arranged; Hongkong Due Sept. 20

(BY "SKIP")

The four selected by the Shanghai Lawn Bowls Association to represent Shanghai next Wednesday against Hankow at the Race Course in the Interport match is R. C. Aitkenhead, D. McAlister, Alb. Taylor and J. Munro. The two reserves chosen are J. T. Disselduff and G. McMurdo.

Mr. Aitkenhead is elected Skip and the constitution of the team will be left for him to arrange. The four are a well balanced lot and should give a good account of themselves. Aitkenhead was skip in 1918 when both Hankow and Hongkong visited here and was highly successful. McAlister is a player of the old school and knows every move of the board and can be relied upon all the time.

Alb. Taylor is a brilliant player and can play in any position, he has a very fine record at the Lawn Bowls Club. J. Munro is a good lead and played for Hankow some two or three years ago against Shanghai, so that he is a well seasoned interporter, he is playing a very good consistent game this season.

The team from Hankow which consists of Messrs. J. W. Burtwell, G. V. Miller, S. J. Godwin and W. J. Paul should put up a good fight both Paul, Godwin and Miller have played here before but Burtwell is a stranger to Shanghai bowlers. The game starts at 3:30 p.m. sharp.

HONGKONG TEAM

News has been received of the players visiting Shanghai from Hongkong, they are Messrs. J. Muirhead (Taikoo), A. G. Pile (K. C. C.), P. Farrell, A. Simpson, and R. Lapsley (K. B. G. C.) The team should arrive here by the 20th inst. in which case they will play Hankow immediately.

HANKOW'S OTHER FIXTURES

Arrangements are being made for Hankow to meet the four Bowling Clubs in town. The program is

Wed. 15th v. Shanghai.
Thurs. 16th v. Yangtszepoo.
Fri. 17th v. Lawn Bowls Club
Sat. 18th v. Junior Golf Club.
Sun. 19th v. Recreation Club.

LAWN BOWLS CLUB v. JUNIOR GOLF CLUB

The last of the inter-club matches of the season will be played on the Lawn Bowls Club greens on Sunday next when the Junior Golf Club will be the guests of the Lawn Bowls Club The match starts at 3:30 o'clock sharp and the team to represent the Lawn Bowls Club is as follows:

J. T. Disselduff (skip), A. Taylor, J. D. Gaines, G. Dunlop.

J. Buckley (skip), H. H. Fowler, F. C. Banham, J. Munro.

G. L. Campbell (skip), J. Ross Young, W. Turnbull, D. Mennie.

A. W. McCallum (skip), T. Harborne, J. D. Gordon, F. L. Marshall.

Reserves: J. M. Robertson, F. A. Sampson, J. McIlveen, G. McSweeney.

POLICE TO HOLD ATHLETIC MEET

Another Trophy To Be Given By The China Press In Coming Contest

A meeting was held last evening at the Central Police Station when it was decided to hold an athletic meeting, probably at the end of next month, when the usual "Shanghai Championship" events will be held. These popular meetings have been all too scarce during the busy times through which the world and its people have travelled but with revival competitors will be as numerous as the events will be popular.

It has been the custom of THE CHINA PRESS to offer a trophy for one of the championship events and as the last one has now been won outright, the Editor announces that another CHINA PRESS trophy will be offered.

Finals Being Played In Hongkew Contest

The mixed doubles in the Hongkew Park tennis tournament, postponed from last Saturday on account of bad weather, will be played at 5 o'clock this afternoon. The next event in the finals will be the men's singles which will be played tomorrow afternoon.

CRICKET PLAYERS READY FOR MATCH

Contest Between Tientsin And Shanghai Opens On S.C.C. Grounds Today

The Tientsin cricket team arrived in Shanghai yesterday morning to compete with the Shanghai team for the interport honors. The game with the home cricketers is scheduled to begin this morning at 11 o'clock.

Thirteen experts are on the visiting delegation and form the strongest and most representative that Tientsin can offer. A noteworthy feature is the all-round ability of practically every man on the team.

The clerk of the weather has evidently made up his mind that he will play cricket, and allow both Friday and Saturday to be as fine as could be wished. The contest will begin each day at 11 a.m. and the lunch interval will be at 1 p.m.

The teams:

Tientsin—C. H. Alabaster (Capt.), O. S. Crawford, G. P. Douglas, W. Hagen, W. Holliday, J. R. Main, E. Paul, W. V. Pennell, B. H. Puckle, O. D. Rasmussen, L. G. G. Taylor.

Reserves—A. M. Van der Byl, H. S. Philp.

Shanghai—G. M. Billings (Capt.), C. Brook, W. N. Hansell, A. W. Hayward, D. W. Leach, H. E. Muriel, W. E. O'Hara, H. B. Ollerdessen, J. Quayle, F. L. Wainwright, C. E. Spencer.

DO THINGS PROPERLY

Someday or other you'll want a Fox Skin. So why not do things properly, why not prepare for that day. Why not buy a Fox Skin that is different from the ordinary China Fox Skin. Let an expert who knows all about Fox Skins select one for you, a real beauty with nice long fur, and oh, what a bushy tail! Send a Chinese Post Office money order for $25 to MR. ELLY WIDLER, TA TSIENLU, SZECHWAN PROVINCE, and he will at once mail you one of these specially selected Tibetan Fox Skins.

Carpentier Is Released From Dempsey Contract When Herman Deserts

(Reuter's Service)

London, September 8.—Mr. C. B. Cochran has decided to abandon the promotion of professional boxing, owing to the disregard of their obligations displayed by so many boxers. The immediate cause was Pete Herman, cabling his inability to fulfil a contract to meet Jimmy Wilde in London on September 27.

Mr. Cochran has accordingly withdrawn his offer of £50,000 to Jack Dempsey for a fight with Carpentier in London and has released Carpentier from the contract he signed last Autumn.

HOW MUCH IS YOUR BABY WORTH?

You will surely reply, "He is worth to me, more than all the money in the world!" Such being the case you will be glad to know of a medicine which will help your baby's teething, enable him to sleep soundly, digest well and develop into a sturdy, healthy child. The name of this already well-known Canadian children's remedy is Baby's Own Tablets. Here is one endorsement out of many received. It comes from an American mother, Mrs. W. M. Stoddart, of East Brookfield, Vt. U.S.A., who writes:—"I have never found anything as good as Baby's Own Tablets for regulating the bowels of little children. My baby was sick and restless while cutting his teeth but the Tablets quickly made him all right."

Baby's Own Tablets are equally helpful and harmless to the youngest infant as to the child of 6 years old or more. They are confidently recommended as a remedy for simple fever, indigestion, constipation, colic, diarrhoea, croup, eczema, also to expel worms. From chemists, or post free, 60 cents the vial, from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

FRANCE STOPS FOREIGN RAIDS ON HER OLD ART

Law Prohibits Export Of Works And Treasures From Before 1830

DEALERS ARE INCENSED

Had Expected To Reap Large Profits Through The Low Rates Of Exchange

Paris, July 17.—France would practically have been robbed of her artistic patrimony if she had not passed a law prohibiting the exportation of her art works and treasures dating from before 1830 was the declaration today of Andre Honorat, Minister of Public Instruction.

"The law has aroused the opposition of dealers in art who saw a chance to reap handsome profits at the low rates of exchange, especially with men in America who had become rich during the war and who came to France ready to pick up anything that looks ancient," he said.

However, M. Honorat decided that future French generations should have no opportunity to criticise the present Government for yielding up art treasures merely because national finances here were somewhat short.

TREASURES VANISHING

"As a result of the depreciation of the franc in the foreign exchange markets, merchants and foreign collectors were getting ready to empty France of her artistic inheritance at very little expense to themselves," he said. "Certain countries, such as Austria and Germany, already have been a large part of their art treasures disappear in this way. Here in France certain departments have systematically searched out such treasures and have sent them to Paris to await the arrival of money laden buyers.

"For instance, near Bayeux foreigners bought a house outright merely to obtain antique furniture. I will admit that this method smacks somewhat of the guillotine in suddenness and efficiency, but there was no choice left."

M. Honorat's scheme is to have all art works in France classified under public supervision, which would add to the value of real antiques in years to come. Such a result, however, would require many years, and meanwhile the indiscriminate shipment of old works of art from France will be prevented, although permits to ship them out of the country may be granted liberally.

TO RETAIN ART SOVEREIGNTY

"When a person is bleeding to death, the most important thing to do is to press the artery harder than ever," he said. "Only when the person is out of danger is it wise to apply a milder treatment. That is the policy we have adopted to maintain France's sovereignty in the art world. But while export permits will be granted, the Government intends to impose the strictest penalties in order to prevent frauds.

"I am told that Paris may lose her reputation as an international art market," M. Honorat said. "This is not true, as the law applies only to art works originating in this country. Art works from abroad may enter or leave France without interference. Moreover, I do not fear that the law will have any effect disastrously on exchange rates, even should the yearly turnover in the art business here reach 100,000,000 francs."

M. Honorat rejected the theory that the prestige of France was increased by having French art displayed abroad, humorously suggesting that if this were true, German vandals should be compensated and not blamed for stealing art treasures from French chateaux.

Movie Scenes Set In Fontainebleau

Paris, July 24.—In order to let the world know something of the real beauties of French scenery and history, the Government has decided to give permission to a private film enterprise to use the Palace of Fontainebleau as the setting for a film production entitled "Agonies of the Eagles," which will depict some of the most vital periods of the nation's development.

The scheme has aroused opposition from many sources, inasmuch as fear has been expressed that the use of the necessary flashlights and high electric currents might result in the repetition of the disaster which destroyed a portion of the Palace of Compiegne. The Minister of Beaux Arts, however, has personally assumed the responsibility and has instructed architects to investigate the preparations which are being made for filming the palace in order to avoid any danger of the edifice being damaged.

The palace was furnished by French rulers during the most glorious period of this nation's history as a center of art culture.

Tia Juana, Oasis For U.S. Drinkers, Gamblers, May Die

Tia Juana, Lower California, August 20.—Passage of this famous gambling and racing center, long the mecca of American sportsmen and tourists, loomed today as the outcome of peace negotiations between the Mexican federal government and Governor Estaban Cantu, Lower California chief executive through several Mexican revolutions.

Along with Mexicali, across the border from Calexico, Tia Juana, only seventeen miles from San Diego, has grown in importance as the center of racing, drinking and gambling, until it has become internationally famous.

Now the prosperous American concessionaires are facing the problem of disposing of property worth millions of dollars in the way of liquor stocks, gambling halls, and other sideshows of the sporting world.

Under the rulership of Governor Cantu, both the state government and concessionaires have enjoyed tremendous profits, particularly after January 16, 1920. Now Governor Cantu is faced with political extinction, while owners of large liquor stocks fear their property will be confiscated by the Mexican federal government.

Americans here point out that the virtually independent rule of the province by Governor Cantu, under which drinking and vice resorts flourished, has been a thorn in the side of the de la Huerta government for months. The de facto government, following the flight of President Carranza, placed rigid restrictions on resorts along the Texas and Arizona border. Cantu, however, refused to follow central government orders to close Tia Juana and Mexicali.

Thousands of tourists have annually visited here, some of them avowedly on "slumming parties," others to escape the great American drouth. During the "hundred days" of racing here last winter, sportsmen from all parts of the country, including all classes of followers of the turf sport, made this their headquarters.

Mexicali has enjoyed similar "wide open" conditions. The "Owl," famous gambling resort of that city, is known to gamblers as one of the most unrestricted houses in the world.

Now, however, that the rule of the federal government appears to be about to extend over this territory, old timers are sadly shaking their heads and murmuring, "it is bound to come."

"Passing of another oasis" seems a fitting characterisation of the latest change in Lower California.

Jap Navy To Have 30 British Airmen

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokyo, September 9.—The "Nichi Nichi" reports that the Naval authorities have decided to engage, thirty British naval aviators as instructors. They are expected to arrive early in 1921 when the new aerodrome at Kasumigaura will be opened as a school of instruction. The Government estimates the cost of setting up the establishment at Yen 6,000,000.

Freight Market

The situation in our Outward Freight markets is as follows:

To United Kingdom and Continent.—This market is very flat, in fact, we cannot remember having seen the export trade so slack as at present for a long time and except for a few cargoes of wheat homewards from Dalny there is nothing doing on our local market.

To United States via Pacific and via Panama and Suez.—If anything, conditions on these berths are worse than when we wrote last and there is practically nothing going via Pacific and only a very little cargo from Outports for the New York direct boats.

Coastwise.—Since last writing this market has been rather upset by the political unrest in the Swatow District and business has been almost at a standstill in consequence; as we go to press, however, conditions are becoming more settled and a slight improvement is noticeable: charters have been done from the North and from the River Ports for end of this month loading.

New Postal Guide

Important and valuable information concerning the postal service in China is contained in the new Postal Guide, corrected to January 1, 1920, which has been published by the directorate-general of posts, Ministry of Communications.

It is a work of 358 pages and contains besides postal information, a useful appendix giving the approximate population in each administrative area of a hsien, the names of the nearest telegraph offices and the standard spelling of all places in China.

The work should prove to be most useful not only to men of the postal service, but also to the public and the press. It can be secured at all the post offices for 50 cents each.

Hankow Market

Hankow, September 1.

FINANCE AND MONEY MARKET

A few bills were offering and there was a slight demand, but for the time of year the volume of business passing is very poor. Taels T.T. on Shanghai Chinese market 96.8 at which rate foreign banks would also sell. The native demand was small and limited. Dollars remained steady at 70.2-70.3 buyers and sellers. Interest 8 percent after being 5 percent. Changsha exchange nominal.

IMPORTS

There was little or no improvement over the previous week. The market remains quiet with practically no inquiry for stocks, and the few sales made were of a more or less retail nature. Deliveries fair. Local yarn values continue to fall.

EXPORTS

Considerable interest was shown by the European market for seeds and beans, and a fair business has been done in both products. A steadier exchange would help in the negotiations for business, but there does not seem much prospect of a change for the better at present. The American market is lifeless.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2715.

SHANGHAI MUNICIPAL COUNCIL 6 PER CENT. STERLING LOAN, 1920.

Amount £750,000

Price of Issue £100 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution VII passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7, 1920, the Council hereby invites applications for Bearer Debentures (with coupons attached) in the 6 percent. Sterling Loan of 1920, which is issued on the following terms:—

(1) Debentures to Bearer, with Sterling interest coupons attached, will be issued at £100 percent in denominations of £1,000, £500, £100 and £50.

(2) The Debentures of this issue will bear interest at the rate of 6 percent per annum, payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year by sterling demand draft on London at par, or in silver (local currency) at the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation's Shanghai current demand buying rate on London on date of presentation of the relative coupon. The first payment of interest will be made on December 31, 1920.

(3) Applications, accompanied by payment in full, will be received by the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, on and after May 1, up to and including June 30, 1920, the Council reserving to itself the right of closing the subscription lists on any day previous to June 30, 1920, by Notification in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai.

(4) Payment on application will be accepted in Silver (local currency) at the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation's current selling T.T. rate on London and will bear interest from date of payment, or in Sterling by T.T. or Demand Draft on London. Interest on payments made in Sterling will only accrue from the date on which the relative remittances are received by the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, London.

The cost of all telegrams received through payment by Sterling T.T. shall be paid by the applicant.

Payment will be acknowledged by Banker's Receipt pending issue of the Debentures.

In the event of any applicant not being allotted the full amount applied for, the amount over-applied for will be repaid in full, plus interest at the rate of 6 percent per annum from the date payment was received in Shanghai or London to the due date of repayment in Shanghai, as notified to the applicant by special notice from the Council.

(5) The Loan will be redeemed at par on June 30, 1950, but may be redeemed by the Council in whole or in part on June 30, 1930, and/or on any subsequent date or dates on which the half-yearly interest is payable, subject to the Council giving six calendar months' notice in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai. In the event of any partial redemption of the loan the numbers of the Debentures to be redeemed will be decided by drawing. The numbers of such drawn Debentures will be notified in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai not less than three months prior to the date of repayment.

Application forms can be obtained on and after May 1, from the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, or from the Treasurer and Comptroller, Finance Department, 24a Kiangse Road, to whom all enquiries should be addressed.

The Right Of Asylum

BY T. R. JERNIGAN

THE asylum which the legation of Japan in Peking is giving to some Chinese who have been proscribed is a subject now under consideration between two governments. The right of Japan to give the proscribed Chinese an asylum is denied by China, but it would seem that China is somewhat weakening in the denial in requesting Japan not to permit the offenders to escape. The right or wrong of the protection afforded by Japan will have to be determined by the facts, but it may be interesting to note what is understood to be the general doctrine relating to such a matter.

In the international code compiled by Professor Hiore, of the Royal University of Naples, the doctrine of the right of asylum is clearly summarised. It is maintained that diplomatic agents must not make use of the legation building to shelter persons in it from the jurisdiction of the territorial sovereign and must not abuse the privilege of extra-territoriality. In case abuse of privilege can be fully and conclusively proved, the diplomatic agent's home government must be held responsible. But foreign diplomatic officials cannot be regarded as forbidden to grant asylum to persons accused of political offenses, or to protect them in their personal safety from the local government, and any measure by the local authorities against persons who have taken refuge in the residence of a foreign minister is to be considered contrary to those principles of international law which justify the protection extended in all civilised countries to political offenders; nevertheless, the protection cannot be carried to the point of giving the political offenders refuge to plot against their government and combat its political institutions, and the foreign government must see that the legation is not used as an asylum for plotting.

The authority referred to expresses the opinion that the local authorities should never be permitted to search the residence occupied by a foreign diplomatic officer. If there should be other building than that of the legation buildings proper attached thereto, although not used for a residence or dwelling the local authorities should not be able to act as they would with regard to private individuals, merely following the rules of the "Common" law; they must also take into account the exceptions properly based on the considerations properly due to the representative of a foreign state.

In presenting the opinion of Prof. Hiore on this important subject, and which appears as the conclusion based on the codified consensus of international law, the language of the professor has been mainly adopted in order that his meaning may be clear in the mind of the reader.

It is admitted by Prof. Hiore that if, by reason of very exceptional circumstances, it should be necessary to search a foreign minister's legation against his will, it would be necessary first to establish grave reasons requiring such a measure and to make them known to the foreign minister, so as to give him time, if desired, to remove all documents and papers relating to his mission, the search should take place with great moderation, supposing it to have but one purpose, the arrest of the offender.

Thus is it plainly stated, that it is an erroneous idea to conclude that the house of a foreign minister can be considered as an asylum for criminals and can completely escape the jurisdiction of the territorial sovereignty. Whatever consideration may be due to the representative of a friendly state it ought and does cease when that officer attempts to take advantage of it to protect offenders against the law. In Calvu's writings there are various cases mentioned which establish the rule. The Duke of Riperda was arrested in the house of the ambassador at Madrid, and the Swedish authorities surrounded the house of the British Ambassador at Stockholm, who had refused to deliver up a criminal who had taken refuge there.

The principle appears to be settled that a criminal, given an asylum in the house of a foreign minister, is nevertheless amenable to the jurisdiction of the territorial State, but his guilt should be made reasonably clear by evidence adduced under proper rules and in a competent court. It will not be sufficient to charge one with being a criminal; it must be proved beyond a reasonable doubt, and the evidence to prove it must be of the nature to be accepted with confidence.

If the case be that the Chinese who are at present enjoying the hospitality of the Japanese legation in Peking are merely guilty of a political offense such hospitality may be extended according to the rules and customs of international law, but if China accuses them of crimes then Japan would have the right to ask for the proof and inquire into the methods and competency of the authority through which the proof was obtained.

If China, had given the attention promised more than ten years ago to the reorganisation and reformation of her courts the confidence of the public would support the demand for the delivery of the ten graceless scoundrels from being shielded from merited punishment by the legation of a "friendly state." But how can there be confidence in the proceedings of any government that first proscribes and outlaws one or more of its citizens and then complacently decides to hear them in their defense on the charge of being criminals. If proscribed and outlawed there is no need of a trial, for the reason that it would evidently be a farce. No legation could be expected seriously to respect a conviction as a criminal of one who had already been convicted of a higher crime by a sentence of outlawry. An outlawed person may be shot down wherever found and the shooter would be exempt from prosecution. There is scarcely a doubt that the Chinese protected by the Japanese legation have done their country a deep wrong and deserve the severest punishment, but official Peking has skilfully succeeded in making a mess of the whole business by a prejudgment before trial and after this prejudgment proposing to shame justice by a trial.

"The supreme sin of democracy, that is the modern democracy, is that it encourages the common man. In Athens there was no common man, since there was no need for his existence. For their public affairs were small and of little account.

"In Rome public affairs encroached on everything and people talked of nothing else; hence Roman orators. In Athens, like great stars, Death and Life and Eternity shone in the firmament, and it was at these people talked, and only literature and art mattered."

—From Letters of John Butler Yeats.

HE DID HIS BEST ANYHOW

When the bookmaker knew he must die he became very anxious to confess his sins, and a clergyman was sent for. The reverend gentleman went into the sick room, and was left with the dying man. An hour passed, two hours passed, three hours passed, and lunch was sent into the clergyman. The day faded and the night came on, and the reverend was provided with another meal. At 11 p.m. there was no news from the sick room, but at about one in the morning the clergyman came forth looking pale and worn. "Yes," he said, "he is gone, poor fellow. He did his utmost, but when he passed away he had only confessed up to the year 1892."

SOUP STAIN AND RAIN

When I spilt my soup on my best trousers,
It left such a horrible stain;

In the morning the stains had all vanished:
By thunder! and so had pants!

PLUMP FOR HARDING

"The wage earner will give full return for the wage received."

—From Harding's Speech of Acceptance.

The laborer is worthy of his hire!
But laborers now-a-days so quickly tire!
They ask for higher wages from the powers,
Then strike to level down the working hours.
If each wage earner gave a full return
For cash received, why sure I can discern
Our holidays we then will be discarding,
And asking voters all to plump for Harding.

A young and energetic curate suggested to the vicar that Sunday afternoon services should be held in the church for the school children.

The vicar gave his consent, and on the following Sunday afternoon the curate marshalled the children in the churchyard four abreast to march into church.

Hhe selected the hymn "Onward, Christian Soldiers," and decided to conduct them into the church, in real Salvation Army style, walking backwards.

On entering the church they commenced the verse, "See the mighty army, Satan leading on;" and he wondered why the congregation laughed.

Gov. Coolidge's Classic Utterances

Calvin Coolidge, Governor of Massachusetts, is one of those sterling men in public life whose mental and moral qualification to serve as a tribune of the people may best be judged by the attitude in which he has confronted complex crises involving the crucial test of courage, statesmanship and straight thinking.

The world loves a man who neither flinches nor truckles in the face of menace. In politics, where it is so easy to be a demagogue, the leader strong enough to take his stand unflinchingly for a principle, scorning to pander to prejudice or passion, even at seeming peril to his own political fortunes, is as priceless as he is rare.

If one may judge by his method of handling the Boston police strike last autumn Calvin Coolidge is that kind of man. And he is more. His address and State documents prove his scholarly qualities. In their brevity, cogency and lucidity, illuminated often but never overdecorated by historical allusion or illustration, they have something of the classical quality of Lincoln. Gov. Coolidge has the faculty of stating a proposition forcefully with the greatest possible economy of language. He is a worshipper of brevity.

"Have faith in Massachusetts." That is the title affixed to a compilation of the speeches, addresses and official utterances of the man whom the Republicans have named for Vice-President. This is the proclamation with which, on September 24, 1919, he met the proposal that he compromise with or truckle to the deserting police force:

BOSTON POLICE STRIKE

"There appears to be a misapprehension as to the position of the police of Boston. In the deliberate intention to intimidate and coerce the Government of this Commonwealth a large body of policemen, urging all others to join them, deserted their posts of duty, letting in the enemy. This act of theirs was voluntary, against the advice of their well wishers, long discussed and premeditated, and with the purpose of obstructing the power of the Government to protect its citizens or even to maintain its own existence. Its success meant anarchy. But this act through the operation of the law they dispossessed themselves. They went out of office. They stand as though they had never been appointed.

"Other police remained on duty. They are the real heroes of this crisis. The State Guard responded most efficiently. Thousands have volunteered for the guard and the militia. Money has been contributed from every walk of life by the hundreds of thousands for the encouragement and relief of these loyal men. These acts have been spontaneous, significant and decisive. I propose to support all those who are supporting their own Government with every power which the people have entrusted to me.

"There is an obligation, inescapable, no less solemn, to resist all those who do not support the Government. The authority of the Commonwealth cannot be intimidated or coerced. It cannot be compromised. To place the maintenance of the public security in the hands of a body of men who have attempted to destroy it would be to flout the sovereignty of the laws the people have made. It is my duty to resist any such proposal. Those who would counsel it join hands with those whose acts have threatened to destroy the Government. There is no middle ground. Every attempt to prevent the formation of a new police force is a blow at the Government. That way treason lies. No man has a right to place his own ease or convenience or the opportunity of making money above his duty to the State.

"This is the cause of all the people. I call on every citizen to stand by me in executing the oath of my office by supporting the authority of the Government and resisting all assaults upon it."

REPLIES TO GOMPERS

During the same crisis, acknowledging the telegraphed protest from Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, Gov. Coolidge wired:

"Replying to your telegram, I have already refused to remove the Police Commissioner of Boston. I did not appoint him. He can assume no position which the courts would uphold except what the people have by the authority of their law vested in him. He speaks only with their voice. The right of the police of Boston to affiliate has always been questioned, never granted, is now prohibited. The suggestion of President Wilson to Washington does not apply to Boston. There the police have remained on duty. Here the policemen's union left their duty, an action which President Wilson characterised as a crime against civilisation.

"Your assertion that the Commissioner was wrong cannot justify the wrong of leaving the city unguarded. That furnished the opportunity, the criminal element furnished the action.

"There is no right to strike against the public safety by anybody, anywhere, any time.

Coolidge-isms

"There is no right to strike against the public safety by anybody, anywhere, any time."

* * *

"Those who attempt to lead the wage earners must first show that they themselves are patriotic."

* * *

"Democracy is not a tearing down; it is a building up. It is not a denial of the divine right of kings; it supplements that claim with the assertion of the divine right of all men. It does not destroy; it fulfils."

* * *

"We need a broader, firmer, deeper faith in the people—faith that men desire to do right, that the Commonwealth is founded upon a righteousness that will endure."

* * *

"Do the day's work. If it be to protect the rights of the weak, whoever objects, do it. If it be to help a powerful corporation better to serve the people, whatever the opposition, do that. Expect to be called a standpatter, but don't be a standpatter. Expect to be called a demagogue, but don't be a demagogue."

* * *

"In political affairs the vote of the humblest has long counted for as much as the vote of the most exalted. We are working towards the day when, in our industrial life, equal honor shall fall to equal endeavor, whether to be exhibited in the office or in the shop."

* * *

"There is just one condition on which men can secure employment and a living, nourishing, profitable wage, for whatever they contribute to the enterprise, be it labor or capital, and that condition is that some one make a profit by it. That is the sound basis for the distribution of wealth and the only one. It cannot be done by law, it cannot be done by Socialism. When you deny the right to a profit you deny the right of a reward to thrift and industry."

"You ask that the public safety again be placed in the hands of these same policemen while they continue in disobedience to the laws of Massachusetts and in their refusal to obey the orders of the Police Department. Nineteen men have been tried and removed. Others having abandoned their duty, their places have, under the law, been declared vacant on the opinion of the Attorney-General. I can suggest no authority outside the courts to take further action. I wish to join and assist in taking a broad view of every situation. A grave responsibility rests on all of us.

"You can depend on me to support you in every legal action and sound policy. I am equally determined to defend the sovereignty of Massachusetts and to maintain the authority and jurisdiction over her public officers where it has been placed by the constitution and law of her people."

Only a few weeks later came the Massachusetts State elections. Gov. Coolidge, addressing the Republican State convention in Tremont Temple on October 4, sketched the history of the police strike and said:

"The response to the appeal to support the Government of Massachusetts in sustaining law and order was instantaneous. It came from the State Guard, from volunteers for police the militia, from contributions gathered among all classes, now reaching hundreds of thousands of dollars, from the loyal police of Boston, from all quarters of the Commonwealth and beyond. These forces may all be dissipated, they may be defeated, but while I am entrusted with the office of their Commander in Chief they will not be surrendered.

"This issue is perfectly plain. The Government of Massachusetts is not seeking to resist the lawful action or sound policy of organised labor. It has time and again passed laws for the protection and encouragement of trades unions. It has done so under my administration upon my recommendation to a greater extent than in any previous year. In that policy it will continue. It is seeking to prevent a condition which would at once destroy all labor unions and all else that is the foundation of civilisation by maintaining the authority and sanctity of the law. When that goes all goes. It costs something, but it is the cheapest thing that can be bought; 'it causes some inconvenience, but it is the foundation of all convenience, the orderly execution of the laws.

"The people understand this thoroughly. They know that the laws are their laws and speak their voice. They know that this Government is their Government, founded on their will, administered by their representatives. Disobedience to it is disobedience to the people. They know that the property of the Commonwealth is their property. Destruction of it destroys their substance. The public security is their security."

TREMONT TEMPLE SPEECH

How confidently Gov. Coolidge faced the issue whether or not he had the people with him is suggested by his speech delivered just before the election, in Tremont Temple, on the evening of November 1, he said:

"Revelation has not ceased. The strength of a righteous cause has not grown less. The people of Massachusetts are patriotic before they are partisan, they are not for men but for measures, not for selfishness but for duty, and they will support their Government. Revelation has not ceased and faith in men has not failed. They cannot be intimidated, they cannot be coerced, they cannot be deceived, and their sovereignty is not for sale.

"When this campaign is over it will be a rash man who will again attempt to further his selfish interests by dragging a great party name in the mire and seeking to gain the honor of office by trafficking with disorder. The conduct of public affairs is not a game. Responsible office does not go to the crafty. Governments are not founded upon an association for public plunder, but on the co-operation of men wherein each is seeking to do his duty.

"That the supremacy of the law, the preservation of the Government itself by the maintenance of order, should be the issue of this campaign was entirely due to circumstances beyond my control. That any one should dare to put in jeopardy the stability of our Government for the purpose of securing office was to me inconceivable. That any one should attempt to substitute the will of any outside organisation for the authority conferred by law upon the representatives of the people had never occurred to me. But the issue arose by action of some of the police of Boston, and it was my duty to meet it. I shall continue to administer the law of all the people.

"I should have been pleased to make this campaign on the record of the past year. I should have been pleased to show what the march of progress had been under the people's government, what action had been taken for the relief of those who toil with their hands as well as their heads—and the record was never more alluring. . . .

"All these things, however, are the result of ordered liberty—the result of living under the law. It is the great desire of Massachusetts to continue such legislation of progress and humanity. Those who are attempting to wrench the scepter of authority from the representatives of the people, to subvert the jurisdiction of her laws, are the enemies not only of progress but of all present achievement, not only of what we hope for but of what we have. . . .

"My fellow citizens of Massachusetts, to you I commend this cause. To you who have added the glory of the hills and plains of France to the glory of Concord and Bunker Hill, to you who have led when others faltered, to you again is given the leadership. Grasp it. Secure it. Make it decisive. Make the discharge of the great trust you now hold an example of hope for righteousness everywhere, a new guaranty that the Government of America shall endure."

All the world knows now how the voters of Massachusetts did make it decisive, how they responded so gallantly as to rank their Chief Executive instantly as a national figure. But his comment upon the result was as statesmanlike, as conservative, as modest as had been all his earlier utterances. This is what he said in his statement to the press on the evening of election day, November 4 last:

"The heart of the people has proven again sound and true. No misrepresentation has blinded them, no sophistry has turned them.

"The attempt to appeal to class prejudice has failed. The men of Massachusetts are not labor men, or policemen, or union men, or poor men, or rich men, or any other class of men first; they are Americans first. The wage earners have vindicated themselves. They have shown by their votes that they resent trying to use them for private interests, or to employ them to resist the operation of the Government. They are for the Government. They are against those who are against the Government.

"American institutions are safe in their hands. Some of those who have posed as their leaders and argued that the wage earners were patriotic because those leaders told them to be may well now inquire whether the case did not stand the other way about. It begins to look as if those who attempt to lead the wage earners must first show that they themselves are patriotic if they are to have any following. The patriotism of some alleged leaders was not the cause but the effect of the patriotism of the wage earners.

"Three words tell the result. Massachusetts is American."

Man Only Animal That Raises Monuments To The Dead—Maybe Feeling That Within Him Are Germs Of Immortality

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

(Eminent astronomer and writer on subjects of scientific interest)

Crossing the Hudson from New Jersey by ferry to One Hundred and Thirtieth Street I was startled by a piercing scintillation as bright as a thousand stars focussed into one that blazed forth suddenly at the foot of the great colonnaded drum resting on the massy square base of General Grant's tomb. There is no work of man's hands in America that affects my imagination as does that majestic monument of that mighty figure in American history, towering on the summit of those green, glacis-like slopes on the high rocky backbone of New York, where hardly more than 300 years ago the red savage stood and saw Hudson's little white-winged ship sail magically up the broad river.

But never had I been so stirred by it as now, for that thrilling illumination (due simply to sunlight reflected from a polished object), struck upon some chord among the brain cells that brought Grant himself as vividly before me as if he had sprung forth from his tomb on the heights.

SAFEGUARD TO NATION.

In two aspects I saw Grant in his lifetime; first with the eyes of imagination in my early boyhood, as the hero of battles took my breath, and last, with the eyes of sense, lying bayonet-guarded in his coffin under the lighted dome of the New York City Hall in the early, silent hours after the morning newspapers had gone to press. There he lay, with upturned face and that jaw like a granite cliff—symbol of the will that had saved a nation.

I would sooner trust to the suggestive influence of Grant's Tomb upon the mind of a boy of mine than to anything that he could gain from reading the Constitution of the United States. I would bring him across the continent to look upon it. Such monuments are among the safeguards of a nation, and the assassins of nations instinctively recognise the fact when making them the objects of their fury of destruction. Sculpture and architecture are the surest and longest bearers of human memory on the earth.

GERMS OF IMMORTALITY.

The spoken word vanishes in the air or fades with the dissolution of the brain that heard it. The written or printed word turns to dust. The Greek paintings are lost, the masterpieces of literature and philosophy are represented by copied fragments, but throngs of the speaking marbles remain to enrich and instruct mankind.

What is the meaning of the universal striving to prolong human memory? May it not arise from a dim sense that the germs of immortality are within us? May it not be born of an instinctive recognition of the fact that nothing is worth while that perishes?

When we inclose the body of a great hero, nation-saver or nation-maker, in a sealed sarcophagus, placed under a lofty dome on a hill-top, near the heart of a vast metropolis of yet living humanity, we know well that if that monument and its contents could endure through geological ages, rivalling the antiquity of the fossil ammonites found in petrified Jurassic seabeds, still it would have but a mock eternity, and all its long ages would be as nothing, infinitely less than an atom in the ocean.

"Account, oh, Christians," said Bossuet in one of the most impressive sentences ever uttered, "account as very brief, or rather account as pure nothingness, everything that comes to an end, for though we should multiply years beyond the reckoning of numbers, clearly all would be as nothing when we reached the fatal term"

Yet, driven on by some submerged and unexpressed idea, or undefined motive, we as all our predecessors have done from the beginning of history, seek by every means in our power to stretch out indefinitely the memory and the influence of our lives, and deeds, and thoughts, and to make monuments serve for at least a symbolical prolongation of human existence.

HAND ON TORCH OF LIFE.

It is fact which cannot be without a deep meaning that we are the only animals on the earth that do this. The lower creatures do not erect monuments and do not preserve the dead. Their efforts are all directed toward the prolongation not of individual but of racial life. They hand on the torch from one generation to the next, without any care or memory for the generations passed.

We, too, hand on the torch of life, as a race of living creatures we continue to exist by the same means as those below us, but we do not forget what the individuals who preceded us did, and we not only strive to keep alive their influence, and consciously to follow out whatever was excellent in their activity, but, under the spur of something that finds no explanation in our conscious physical mortality, but is essentially contradictory to mortality itself, we symbolise a belief in immortality by building monuments to the dead, for those monuments have no meaning unless it can be found in a faith that the dead yet live.

Ibanez Says U. S. Women Do Not Know Real Love

Upon his arrival in Europe, Blasco Ibanez, the famous Spanish author, was asked what his real impressions were in regard to the American woman. He replied as follows:

"American woman have made America the greatest country in the world. This is because they possess the general culture and education which in Europe is man's prerogative. A nation cannot progress without a certain amount of general culture, nor without a certain amount of specialisation.

"As the American woman has the requisite general culture, so the American man has been able to specialise in business or technical matters to such an extent that America has become the leading country of the universe.

"American women have a tremendous influence. Not only has the individual woman tamed the individual man in a degree unheard of in Europe—so much so that a man instinctively obeys a woman's every command—but collectively they change the life of a community. They invade politics, oblige candidates to change their platforms. They influence art and literature. No venture or enterprise which meets with the disapproval of women can succeed in America.

"As far as I can see, this influence is for the best, as a rule. But there are exceptions, as when women, either by nature bloodless and passionless, or else past the age when diversions have charm, try to forbid every expression of pleasure. They try to kill all joy, prohibit entertainments, do away with personal liberty.

"In the name of what, great Heavens? Who are they to rise up and determine what should be the habits of their fellow-beings? And such an infraction they commit on the American temperament, which is the gayest, the most joyous in the world!

"The American woman is the happiest, the freest woman in the world. There's not the slightest doubt about it. But every advantage has to be paid for. No one can have everything. And American women don't know love, as the European does. The fault isn't her's, but the American man's. He can't be a business power and a lover as well.

"The American woman has trained the American man to suit herself. If she hasn't trained him to be a lover, it shows that she cares more for other things in life than love."

Rhymes Of Unruly Things

Just A Little Nonsense

BY ANGELS MORGAN

O THE ice picks that melt in the air—
Though a moment ago they were there!
While your guests, who are highbrows
Are lifting their eyebrows
And handling their whispers with care.

O the handles that always are hot,
At the instant you think they are not,
Though you smile as you say:
"Do pardon, I pray!"
And the wreckage is swept from the spot.
O the shutters that never will shut,
The cutters that never will cut!
The treacherous fire
That fills you with ire
And covers your fingers with smut.

O the nickels that stay in the slot,
As if held by an intricate plot,
Though you signal in vain
While missing your train
And the telephone answers you not.
O the pennies that whisper goodbye,
When for sweets and for trophies you try,
Though gaily you hum
As you wait for your gum
And the car you should catch whizzes by.

O the snappers that never will snap,
Sublimely eluding the trap.
The hooks and the eyes
That are stiff with surprise
Whenever they're caught in a gap.
Now, I think I am nearing the end—
Unless you can help me, my friend—
And conjure some more
To add to the store . . .
I'll welcome whatever you send!

Perhaps mother earth would be better,
If a kinder example we set her . . .
Though the worst of the lot
Is a horrible blot
That comes at the close of your letter!

Little Bobbie's Pa

BY WILLIAM F. KIRK

Pa asked us out in his new car, the Triplet Six.

Me for the best, all the time, sed Pa. I offen wanted to git one of these cars, but nevver till now did I feel like I reely cud afford it, sed Pa. Hop in & we will all three (3) take a spin, sed Pa.

I wish you had thot to buy me a linen duster, sed Ma, & a ottmobeel hat.

That will all cum in time, sed Pa, in the meentime hop in & we will whiz thru the fair countryside, sed Pa.

Pa leerned to drive a long time ago wen he was sail-ing around Long Iland, so Ma wasn't afrade to hop in & neether was I. It is pritty nice to own yure own car. I feel sorry for a lot of poor littel kids wich hasent got dads wich is Flush but we cuddent talk all the kids in the wurld along anyhow so I hopped in.

This is a grate country, sed Pa, a man can live here & git prosperus & no king talks his Doe away from him. Of course he has to pay his incum tax & outgoing expenses, sed Pa, but sumtimes he has enuff left to buy a noabel car like this here one wich I am driving, Pa sed. Git up, car, sed Pa, & we started.

You may feel a littel pinched in that back seet, sed Pa to Ma, it was made for slender folks.

We may be pinched, sed Ma, but in this car I guess we will nevver be pinched for speeding.

Can't you go faster? I sed to Pa.

One shud be caushus with a new boat, sed Pa. I am feeling my way.

This maiks me feel sad, sed Ma. It reminds me of the time I went to Unkel Jake's funeral, Ma sed. We went about this fast.

Then Unkel Jake was buried about the way he lived, sed Pa. That old boy certingly nevver knowed what speed was, sed Pa.

He was all the better off for that, sed Ma. Why doant you step on one of them cute littel levvers in front thare, sed Ma, & give yure noabel car sum gas.

I guess it is, I sed. I bet I can run faster than this car.

If you maik another reemark like that you will have a chanst to run back hoam, Bobbie, sed Pa.

We may git a chanst to walk back, sed Ma, & jest then the car stopped, a block from our house.

The Triplets has the colic, sed Ma. All six of them, I guess, Ma sed.

Doint provoke me, sed Pa.

But Ma kep laffing & Pa kep gitting red in the face & the car kep standing still. Pa had to tellefone for a man to cum & taik it to the Garage. Ma sed our Trubbels has jest beegun.

Coal Market

Messrs. Wheelock and Co. write as follows in their report dated September 9:

Japan Coal.—Our local market has continued very quiet since last writing and there has been no business done worth speaking about.

In Japan the market is in pretty much the same situation as last reported but we understand that the negotiations for supplies of coal to Europe have had to be abandoned for the time being owing to the competition of Chinese coal.

Fushun Coal.—Stocks in Shanghai are rather limited so far and we hardly expect much business to be done until the winter season commences.

Chinese Coal to Europe etc.—Negotiations are still going on for coal to Europe and also to South America but without any result to date, as far as we can gather.

Kaiping Coal.—A good demand still exists for this coal at current prices and the market for the better grades is in excess of supply.
